

PARISH REPRESENTATIVES

For newer parishioners it might be helpful to review the system of Parish Representatives. The assignments are printed in the schedule and in the previous Sunday's bulletin. We go in alphabetical order. The assigned household notifies the ushers when they arrive at church and takes a seat in the last pew on the south side of church. The ushers notify the Representatives when the time comes for the gift procession. The gifts are carried behind the servers all the way up to the altar. (For elderly or handicapped Representatives, the priest can come down the steps.) After the priest receives the gifts, the Representatives sit in the first pew on the south side for the rest of Mass. If there isn't room in that pew or any close by then the Representatives return to the last pew on the south side. No bow or genuflection is necessary. Family members of other faiths are welcome to join as Parish Representatives. Parish Representatives living alone may ask someone to be a Representative with them or they may walk up with the ushers. If they cannot be present at their scheduled time, they are asked to please call another family on the schedule to trade with them.
